

To: Baca, Andrew[Baca.Andrew@epa.gov]; Byrne, Andrew[Byrne.Andrew@epa.gov]; Besougloff, Jeff[Besougloff.Jeff@epa.gov]
From: Binder, Jonathan
Sent: Mon 9/12/2016 12:12:52 PM
Subject: From 280 Tribes, a Protest on the Plains - The New York Times

<http://www.nytimes.com/interactive/2016/09/12/us/12tribes.html?rref=collection%2Fsectioncollection%2Fus&a>

When visitors turn off a narrow North Dakota highway and drive into the Sacred Stone Camp, where thousands have come to protest an oil pipeline, they thread through an arcade of flags whipping in the wind. Each represents one of the 280 Native American tribes that have flocked here in what activists are calling the largest, most diverse tribal action in at least a century, perhaps since Little Bighorn.